COUNTERPEITING IN THE INTERIOR OF THE STATE. -For some days past Mr. C. M. Lee, Chief of Police of Elmirs, has been in this city in mearch of the confederates of two counterfeiters from this city, recently ar ested in Elmira. Startling developments are promhed; but the facts are for the present withheld, as it is alleged that preminent railroad and banking men are Implicated.

The names of the two arrested at Elmira are Dr. George B. Graham and Phinese N. Finch. They dealt both in paper and specie counterfeits. Most of their operations were with counterfeit tens on the Farmers' and Manufacturers' Bank of Poughkeepsis. These bille have been hither to noticed as most cleverly exeouted counterfeits. One of the Chemung County banks exchanged a package of their own bills for five hundred dollars of the counterfeits without suspecting that the exchange was robbery. Counterfeit ones on the Chemang Edver Bank was their next counterfeiting staple, the residue comprising bogus half dollars and sparious t wenty shilling gold pieces. The counterfeit ones passed off freely, although very clumsily engraved. About three thousand dollars of counterfeit money were passed before the men were arrested Both are now in jail at Elmira a vaiting their trials.

Dr. Graham, as he calls himself, has resided in this eity reveral years. He had an office in Bleecker stree for some time, and for a short period was part proprie tor of a drug store in Eighth avenue. He has a wife and three children, who still reside here. He is an Englishman by birth, well educated, showy in dress and po tehed in manners Finch is reported to be a brother-in-law of Dr. Graham. He is a middle aged man, and in dress, appearance, and culture, is the anspoce of his alleged confederate in crime. He has pursued the avocation of drover for years.

From the nature of his business he enjoyed remarkable facil ties for palming off bad money upon unsuspecting farmers. There was found upon him when arrested a letter from the agent of a railroad company, showing, on the part of the writer, evident complicity in his counterfeiting operations. Enough is said to have been gathered already from Finch to show the existence of a thoroughly organized gang of counterfaiters, having their headquarters in this city, and whose opera-Western and some of the Southern States.

WHAT DEPUTY UNITED STATES MARSHALS DETAIN SLAVERS FOR .- On Wednesday, or the day before, a process was taken out against the bark Storm King, on mepicion that she was engaged in the slave-trade. The process, it is stated, was given into the hands of two Deputy United States Marshale, who, without referring it to Mr. Thompson, the acting Chief Marshal in the absence of Capt. Rynders, for his directions in the case, as they had been instructed to do by the United States District-Attorney, went directly to the vessel, boarded her, and uncoremoniously ar-rested the captain and mate, by presenting pistols to their heads, and threatening their lives if they a tempted to leave port. The captain entered into a parley with them, and, after considerable conversation in private, agreed to provide them with a large sum of money if they would consent to let him go his way. The Deputy Marshals, ardent in the pursuit of duty and justice, discovered that the case had nothing in it, and the vessal lett port nemolested, as the marine list will show, It is said that a charge of larceny, in connection with a slave case, is now pending against one of the Marshals referred to above. Two or three days ago, it is stated by persons who are ready to testify in the matter, that a versel called the Charlotte E. Taye was placed under arrest on the strength of a regular process, on sus-picion that she was a slaver. The Deputy United States Marshals boarded her, and arrested the parties concerned. A person calling himself a passenger, but who is supposed to be the supercargo, left the presence of the Marshal for a short time, during which a trunk standing near by was depleted of a large amount of gold in sovereigns, to account for which an investiga-

Tae encampment will begin early in July, and last about ten days. The sale of liquors will be prohibited within one mile of the camp, and no gambling or other unlawful acts will be permitted within the military precinct. To aid in earrying out these arrangements a large force of police, under the command of Capt. Caarles Turnbull, will be detailed The ship Star of the Union, 1,037 tune, but t in Maine in 1852, was sold at anction on Thursday, by Gerard & Betts, to J. Sickles for $30,000; one-third cash, balance, 3 and 4 mos The Sculler Colonial bust ordered by a number of German gentlemen for the Central Park, has been completed by Mr. Richter, the artist. The sum of $250 has been subscribed for a pedesial on which to place the bust....All the buildings on Worth street, between Church and West Broadway, have been forn down, to make room for Claffin & Mellen's new stores Among the houses thus consigned to memory alone, is an old frame building at about the middle of the block which, twenty years ago, was a colored Baptist Churck, and within the past four years has been converted into a tenement house....The old firm of Bamnel Judd's Sons on Wednesday took down their sign at No. 59 Fulton street, where it has stood unchanged for forty years, their increasing business compelling them to take larger premises at No. 129 Front We rarely hear of such fixtures in these days of constant change The Cupper says that it is in contemplation to call a public meeting of the friends of "fair play" to take some action in reference to the recent fight in England, and to express the indignation of the American people at the unfair treat-

REPUBLICAN CENTRAL CAMPAIGN CLUB-This Chab took porces ion of their Headquarters, No. 722 Breadway, last evering, Wm. H. Fry, eeq, in the chair. The fine large rooms were well filled, and all the members were pleased with them. They afford ample . pace for a reading ball, as well as one for speaking. They will be open night and day until the Presidential election. New members were added last night, and other business transacted. Messrs. Fry, Quackenboss, and Spencer addressed the meeting. The Club is now very prosperous, and rapidly increasing in numbers. Republicans throughout the country are invited to avail themselves of the headquarters.

SANITARY Association.-The stated meeting of this Association was held last evening in the Cooper Institute, the President, Gen. Mather, in the chair. Dr. Griscom read a very lengthy report, as chairman of a committee, upon the Health bill, lately defeated in the Legislature, particularly commenting upon the corrupt use of money in connection therewith-the amount of which, it was claimed, was not less than $150,000-and also upon the influence of the public journals in defeating it, particularly THE TRIBUSE whose tenor since the article of the 8th of March, which spoke of the adoption of the bill as a means of saving many lives of citizens and much money, had indicated the authorship of a different person, who did not know as much about what he was raying as the one speaking before him, or wrote after " some other influence than the sunitary measure of the bill prevailed." This last remark being constened by some es charging THE TRIBUSE with bribery and corruption, Dr. Griscom repudiated the idea. Mr. Wetmore, however, insisted that the press had been recreant to its duty on this question, that it was now so, and that it always would be so, and desired that this opinion should be made known by the reporters if they felt disposed to give him credit for the remark. Nothing further was done than the adoption of the report, upon the question of which the whole evening

AMERICAN INSTITUTE .- A regular monthly meeting of the American Institute was held last evening at the Cooper Institute; President Hall in the chair. The Board of Trustees reported that they had engaged the services of a competent person to collate the proceed ings of the Polytechnic Onb for publication, as desired by the last Legislature. The report elected a lengthy and heated discussion, but was shally adopted. The Committee appointed to revise the by-haws reported the amendments made by them. They were ordered to be laid on the table, and 250 copies printed for the use of members.

A member of the Polytechnic Club stated that that body had taken action regarding the expediency of memorializing Congress, requesting them to abolish the regulations of the Patent Odice which requires invenregulations of the Patent Office which requires inventions to furnish models of their inventions. They propose the adoption of the system now in use in England, which requires the Patent Office to give printed specifications of all patents applied for. Mr. George J. Sickles offered the following resolution, which was made the special order for the next regular meeting:

Large Sale of the Thorn Estate by A. J. LARGE SALE OF THE THORN ESTATE by A. J. BLEECKER, SO., & CO.—This estate extends from Eighty-inight to Ninety-iournh street, and from Broadway across Ninth and Tenth avenues nearly to Central Park, containing nearly 500 behinding lots. It is still in the same condition as formely; but as it has been surveyed and sola in lots to suit purchasers, it will not be long before straight streets will be cut through its groves, and its lofty trees will give way to stately residence. Einmond, as it was called, was for many years in the possession of the Ja meey family, who probably first used it as a farm, and subsequently converted it into an elegant country seat. made his entree. There was no shying of castors on either side, and everything was done in the plainest manner. Sayers, on getting inside the ropes, very carelealy divested himself of his cloak. Too appearance he presented after this was flashy in the extreme. He was dressed in a suit of plaid-green and red being the predominant colors.

"Heenan, who had been standing outside the ring wish his friends, now entered it, followed by Casick and McDonald. He was dressed in a suit of heavy gray clothes, the overcoat being buttoned closely and the peck, and having a thick comforter round his throat to protect it from the wind. Cheers from the Americans went up, on his entrance, and though they were not numerous, no one could doubt their sincerity. When the Boy entered the ring he walked over to Sayers, extending his hand, and said:

" 'How do you do, Tom-how do you find yourself this morning ! "Sayers, taking the proffered band-' Very well, I thank you; how do you find yourself?' "Heenan-'I feel very well, indeed. We have got a fine morning for it."

"Sayers-'Yes; if a man can't fight such a day as this, he can't at all.' [Sayers pulling out a roll of bills] - Do you want to bet anything? " Heenan-' No: I've bet all my money."

"Beensn then walked toward McDonald, and had ome conversation with him. Sayers, who had never seen the Boy before, now took a careful observation of him. It was plain to be seen he was disappointed in his antagonist, but it did not last long, as the determined eye and firmly compressed lips told only too plainly that he would make the best of a bad bargain.

"The ring, when formed, presented an appearance f grandeur. Long before the day named for the fight, the names of 87 noblemen, headed by the Earl of Branfort, were sent to Falkland, all wishing to be posted as to the time and place of the battle. We were glad to see them there, as it added importance to the contest. There was also a minister, from Cambridge, who witnessed the fight, and though we did not see him go down into his pockets to bring forth the necessary, the pleasant smile on his phiz assured us he was realy and widing to see a fair and manly contest."

CONVICTION AND SENTENCE OF THE REV. JACOB S. HARDEN FOR WIFE-MURDER.

Gerrespondence of The N. Y. Tribune.

POURTEENTH DAY-MORNING SESSION. BELVIDERE, N. J., Wednesday, May 2, 1860.

A storm is now raging—the wind is blowing with great severity; yet these do not in the least abate public interest in the trial. Carriages are arriving from all points, and everything betokens a crowled Court-room. During the delivery of Mr. Bradley's speech the prisoner was much depressed, and covered his face from the gazing crowd. He seemed to feel that he was the "observed of all observers," and he thrank from the hundreds of eyes around and about him. The Court opened at 9 oclock, with as large a crowd present as could be jammed into the room. The officers of the Court obtained their seats with much difficulty.

Harden's statement was then read, and its improbability argued. The avidence showed that there was no time when this interview with his wife, which must have taken near half an har, could have been hele. Mr. Harden went to the room, and about the same time Mr. Ramsay, they left the room together, Mr. Harden going for the butternills. And Mrs. Geary swears that she did not leave the room afterward, until her uncee and out were called to the bedride of the dying wife. Genieumen, that state ment was a fabrication; it bears the toppress on its very that state ment was a fabrication; it beers the impress on its very face. The Attorney-General read the statement in full, commenting up in it, and said in conclusion. I submit to you it is, in itself, contradictory, improbable—could not be believed if there were no evidence in the case opposing it. Apart from its intrinsic contradictions, there was no time when it could have aken piece. Gentlemen, with regard to the cath. There is too much syldence in this case that he never felt the obligation of an eath so binding that it would trouble him. His reasons for keeping the secre; were incredible.

AFTERNOON SESSION—WEDNESDAY.

In the afternoon, the Court opened at the usual hour. The Court-room presented one crowded mass of homan beings, granding on the floor without the bar.

homan beings, standing on the floor without the bar, and the gailery was again crowded with ladies. The Attorney General continued, saying: But is eclaimed by the cetains that from the time of this oath and inby the Celemae that from the time of this oath and interview, on the supportion of the truth of his statements, all his conduct was maural. Now, it seems to me, gention on of the jury, that the reverse of this is the case. The conduct of Harden in the sick boom, his absenting aimself from a rife, when he knew to be in the agencies of said de, to be gone so hear upon a trillina errand a cistance of six hundred and seventy old yards, to have notting on his mind; to ask a neighbor if inflamentation of the bowels was campeters—contrasted with the actions of Mr. Ramsay, the moment he was called, who is alarmed, naturally so; orders Woodruff to spring up, run for the heighbors, find a horse, and bring a declor; while the imband stands quietly by, beholeing his tortured wife. His statement, if true, shows him so be little less guilty than if the marder were semilited. His efforts to besten the out-al, to avoid an examination; playing his less card in his statement before the coroners there is no ure in mincing this matter, call a spade a binde.

inquest, then instead of standing like a max, runs away like a spade a spade.

We have traveled, gentleman of the Jury, through this case in all tertinous wineings, through the beaten track which leads from its beginning to its conclusion; at every point of observation, every circumstance, every incident points with a steady inberding finger to this man of guit. If you look for the dark notive which used him on, you find it there. If you look for the dark notive which used him on, you find it there. If you look for the dark notive which used him on, you find it there. If you look for the conduct of a marderer endeavoring to except responsibility and conceal his acts—If you look for that conduct before or during her thiness, or at the time of ner death, in its infinite variety of cheamstances, all lead to one and the same conclusion. If in your bearts, gentlemen, you have reasonable, weil grounded doubts as to his guilt, open his prison doors and let him go free; but if you immly believe, as I doubt not you do, that this is a wicked, disholucal murder, do not, i pray you, hearm participans of its guilt by a false or wrongful vedict. Do not, by giving impunity to him, encourage future secret deeds of crime—the work of a moral monster. Let it never be said that in the County of Warren the wife-murderer, the secret poisoner, escaped the just penalty of his crime. Remember, a suttenen, your first and your lass obligation—"a true verdict "according to the evidence, so help me God."

Judge Dayton closed soon after 3 o'clock, having occupied in his plea some 44 hours. Judge Whelpley immediately proceeded to charge the Jury.

The charge of the Court occupied over two hours in its reading. It was exceedingly severe upon the prisoner, but entirely impartial. The circumstances of the case made it severe. During its delivery the face of the prisoner was covered with his handkerchief, but there was no perceptible tremor about him; his nerves seemed to be made of iron. While several members of the jury wept immederately, in view of the great responsibility resting upon them, not a tear came from of the just weet immediately, it view of the great responsibility resting upon them, not a tear came from the eyes of him whose life will, in all probability, he cut short by their verdist. If he is guilty, as nearly all believe rim to be, he is what the Attorney-General very appropriately termed him in addressing the Jury, meral menster."

He committed murder upon his young and confiding wife, who loved him to destruction, as the evidence in the case abundantly shows, by the more diabolical means, known to the murderer; he stood by her deathmeans, known to the murderer; he stood by her death-bed, and saw her life westing away by inches without affording her any relief when her piteous cries went up to him for "water, only a glass of water, I am burning up;" he fed her day by day with that which caused her mortal agony; he refused to send for her parents in her dying hour, to secure their parting bles-sing; he has committed the great gime of perious her sing; he has committed the great crime of periory, by swearing before the Coroner's Jury that his wife, on her dying bed informed him that she had poisoned her-self. Add to all this, his attempt to fasten upon the being able to gain admittance. The town to-day presented an extractionary spectacle. At an early hour of the day wagons and vehicles of all kinds came flowing in from every direction, and by noon there was a perfect jam. The hotel keepers had a good time generally. I am informed that over six hundred wagons were stored away at the different public houses. Horses were tied around in the public atreets, and everything gave evidence of some great public demonstration. The people seemed wild with excitement. The Attorney-Geteral's speech to-day was a masterly exhibition of oratory and argument. Its logic was crushing. After its delivery the prisoner seemed to lose all hope. The Court-room presents a pitiable spectacle. Not a single seat in it has escaped destruction. Ruin stares you in the face on every hand.

The ladies of the town and county during the whole course of the trial have been in attendance in large numbers. The space allotted to them is limited to a gallery of mederate dimensions, and such has been their anxiety to see as dhear that many of them remained in their seats from 8 in the morning until the close of the day.

Eight o'clock p. m.—The trial is over, and Harden is onvicted of the crime of murder in the first degree. The Jury have just returned into court, after an absence of two hours, with a verdict of guilty on all four counts laid in the indictment. At the ringing of the Court-House bell, a few minutes since, people rushed from every quarter, and soon the house was densely packed with eager spectators. The prisoner was brought in amid breathless silence. His aged father, who sat by his side during the whole of the trial, was not present to hear that awful word, "Guilty," fall from the lips of the Foreman of the Jary, which coasings his unferturate son to the gallows. When that word came to the ears of the presner, his head fell upon the table, and he groaned in great agony. His counsel, who sat by his side, were fixed to their sea s, and some time elapsed before they recovered their self-pos FIFTEENTH DAY.

SENTENCE OF THE PRISONER.

Court opened at 10 o'clock. The Court-house was filled as usual. The Court ordered the prisoner to be set at the bar. He came in leaning on the arm of the Sheriff, pale and haggard in appearance. Upon calling his name, he stood up without assistance, to hear the sentence of the Court, which is as follows:

Jacob S. Harden, I am about to proceed to the discharge of the most solenn duty which a mortal can be called to perform. This trial, which, for the last two weeks, has been the object of so mush interest, is closed. The humans maxim of the law that you were to be considered innocent unit you were proven golly, no longer spiples to you. A jury o'your country, selected by yourself, of unprejudiced, intelligent, conscioutious men, after a full investigation of your case in all its length and breadth, after heaving all the arguments of your counsel, passed upon them with uniting energy, with as eloquence rarely equaled, with a pathos which down the aloquence rarely equaled, with a pathos which does the stout at heart, and with a force and power which could not have failed to break the charm of the evidence of your guilt, had it not have been of adamsnitine strength, have passed that there was no doubt of your guilt; that the evidence could not be true and you be guiltiess of the agony and blood of your wite; that we was fouly mordered by you in a manner almost too horrisis for canception.

With the verdict of that Jury, it is almost needless to say, this Court is entirely sa issed. It could have been no other without discrepted of the duties which they oved to the society of winch

The Court here passed for an answer. The prisener deliberately raised his hand, and said: "I have nothing to say to you on that subject. I refer you to my counsel." Mr. Shipman areas in his piece, and said: "I have nothing to say, may it please your Hener."

in his place, and said: "I have nothing to say, may it please your Henry."

The Judge resumed:

"It remains for me to pronounce the sentence of the Court, which is hereby by the Court considered and adjudged, that you, Jacob S. Handen, for the Islony and marder, in the first degree, of Hanneh Louiss Harden, of which you have been convicted, in manner and form as charged in the indictment, be taken to the jail of this Courty of Warren, whence you have been brought, and there arely kept until Thursday, the twenty-righth day of June next, and that on that day, between the nours of lo o'clock in the forenoon and a o'clock in the afternoon, within the prison of the County of Warren, where you shall be confined, or in an inclose yard of said prison, or within an inclosure, erected for that purpose, adjoining such prison, at the discretion of the Sheriff, you be hung by the neck until you be dead. And may God have mercy on your sock."

After the sentence was concluded, the prisoner sat down and wept. His counsel, also, and many others, were bathed in tears.

GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.

The Annual Meeting of the Geographical and Statistical Society was held last evening, in the rooms of the Society, in Clinton Hall. Although the attendance was not large, the rooms were so badly ventilated that, within a few minutes of the commencement of the nesting, the air was very unpleasant.

Mr. George Folson presided. Various reports were read, and the polls were opened for the election of officers. The Regular ticket was headed by Prof. Morre. The friends of the old regime took substantially the same, substituting the name of Dr. Hawks for President. Two other tickets were made up of selections from these.

The reports of the officers of the Society were read. They show a business of $1,947.50, and a balance in the treasury of $118.35. There have been $22 volumes added to the library within the year. The library now has 4,600 volumes. The Librarian, Mr. Bayard Taylar, suggests the desirability of acquiring a number of books, among them a Physical Atlas, either that of Berghans or Johnston.

Berghaus or Johnston.
Mr. H. B. MULLARD then read a paper on Phisis Pu'monsres, the disease commonly known as Con-sumption. It carried off, he said, more persons than any other disease. It now caused one-sixth of the deaths in the world. In Canada, New-York and Boston there had been a very considerable diminution of deaths by it since the beginning of the century. In New-York it had diminished from 20 to 11 per cent. Providence is much more given to Consumption than New-York. Chicago shows only about 9 per cent of Consumption. The army statistics showed most Consumption on the Gulf Coast of Florida, South Carolina, sumption on the Guir Coast of Forda, South Carolina, and Alabama; next in New-York Harbor and California; next Texas; next Washington and Oregon Terrt ries, next the Adantic Coast of Florida and lowest New-Mexico. In Iceland from 1827 to 1837, there was not a single case of Consumption. It was the same in Labrador and Green to 1887, there was not a single case of Consumption. It was the same in Labrador and Green land, and was very rare in Upper Russia. Persis and Algiers were singularly free from it. Consumption was more prevalent in Gibraliar and Malta than in Canada, according to the Britsh army statistics. The deaths are much greater in Bormuda than in Newfoundinald. In Hindostan, there is very little Consumption. In districts where intermittent fevers are prevalent, such as Venice and the Tuscan marcame, there is very little Consumption. The deaths by Consumption in the British army are three times as great as in the navy. March, April, May, February, January, December, June, July, November, August, September, October is the order in which there is the greatest number. In October, there are only about four-fifths as many deaths as in March. Among cecupations, tailors are most lable to Consumption; then come shoe makers, locksmiths, physicians, gardeners, butchers, and lawyers. The liability of the tailor is more than four times as great as that of the lawyer. This rule does not, however, apply to those lawyers who practice in the New-York Supreme Court, where the air is so find as to induce taverculous Consumption in a very short time. Nor does the rule apply to those lawyers who attend the meetings of the New-York Geographical and Statistical Society. As to climate, humidity appears to conduce most to it, though a moist salt air is not conducive to it. Cold is unfavorable to it, especially equable cold. It is more common among women than among men, and is most common between the ages of 20 and 30. Terer is no reason to believe that teer is more or less Consumption now than thonwomen than among men, and is most common between the ages of 20 and 30. There is no reason to believe that there is more or less Consumption now than thousands of years ago.

A long and procy discussion ensued, which consumed the time until the votes were all counted. e time until the votes were all counted. For President, Dr. Hawks was elected, receiving 58 votes to 54 for Prof. Moree. The remainder of the ticket elected was as follows:

For Vice-President for one year, Henry Grinnell; Vice-President for two years, Archibald Russell; Vice-President for three years, the Rev. J. P. Thompson; Recording Secretary, E. A. Stansbury; Foreign Corresponding Secretary, John Jay; Domestic Corresponding Secretary, Marshall Lefferts; Librarian, Chas. Welford; Treasurer, Frank Moore.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST MARINER'S SOCIETY.

The third anniversary of the American Baptist Mariner's Society was held in the Rev. Dr. Gillette's Church, West Twenty-third street, last evening. Ps-TER BALEN, esq., in the chair.

The exercises were commenced with the reading of a portion of the 50th chapter of Isaiah, by the Rev. In R. STEWARD, and prayer by the Rev. A. D. GILLERTE, D. D.

IRA R. STEWARD, and prayer by the Rev. A. D. GILLEYTE, D. D.

Capt. Frishle, the Secretary of the Society, read the annual Report, which set forth that the First Baptist Mariners' Church in New-York had continued to experience the blessing of God and his grace in the indications of religious revival, and the conviction of s'nners who had come to a knowledge of their Lord and Savier Jesus Christ; that three sermons are preached every Sunday, the attendance being 500 persons, and the average attendance at the week dayevering rervices 60, from 15 to 40 of whom are sailors. The pastor had prepared 245

sermone from new texts, 428 sermone had been preached by him, and 35 by other ministers; he had written 663 pages, attended 1,042 religious meetings, made 1,043 pasteral visits, performed funeral services 40 times received 782 letters, mostly from seamen, had written 472 are wers, baptized 75 persons; between 200 and 300 seller brethran had been sent ont as missionaries to all parts of the world; 233,356 pages of tracts, 120,151 religious books and papers, 404 Bibles and Testaments had been circulated; 22,941 visits had been made to seamen and others, 5,811 visits made to boarding-houses; 3,932 persons had been induced to attend church; 210 prayer meetings had been held, 80 conversions had been reported, 27 of whom had become charch communicants; 24 backsliders had been reclaimed; 147 had signed the temperance pledge; 316 vessels had been supplied with reading matter. The converted sallors have been from 30 different sections. Mr. Mullenbund was at work in Sweden, and had reported that he was in the habit of preaching to congregations of 2,000 to 3,000 persons; he had preached in 30 different parishes of Sweden, and in two cities of Denmark.

The Treasurer's report set forth the receipts of the Society for the year at $520.48.

The report closed by asking: "Will you, dear brethren in Chrat, aid us in this work in your prayers, sympathies, and money, to carry forward the great work in hastening the time when the abundance of the sea shall be converted to God. Then thou shalt see nd flow together, and thy heart shall fear, and be enlarged, be sause the sea shall be converted and thee."

The congregation then sang an original ode, based on the 60th chapter of Isatab, beginning:

"The way of God is in the sea.

His grace now triumpha there;

"The way of God is in the sea.
His grace now triumphs there;
Like clouds, like doves, our sailors fiee
To Christ in humble prayer."

The Rev. Dr. HISCOX of the Stanton-street Baptist The Rev. Dr. Hiscox of the Stanton-street Baptist Church, was sorry that the audience was so small, but he was not discouraged, because he knew what small beginning characterized all important movements. This was no exception. He congratulated them, however, upon the fact that such a noble report had been made on such pecuniary means.

The meeting was subsequently addressed by the Rev. A. H. BURLISCHAM of the Twenty-fifth street Baptist Church; the Rev. JOSEPH STOCKBRIDGE, Chaplain at the New-York Navy-Yard; and the Rev. Ina. Steward, pastor of the New-York Baptist Mariners Church.

A collection was taken, the doxology sung, and the benediction pronounced.

The congregation was very small, not over two hundred persons having been present.
